Meet Cole Malone, one of the most promising rising stars in the music scene. With his upcoming EP produced by Tino Izzo, fans are eagerly anticipating the release of what promises to be a must-listens. Inspired by artists like Eric Church and Rob Thomas, Cole has crafted a unique sound that combines country and contemporary music in a refreshing way. His latest single, Day After Day, made it to #97 on the Top 100 Mediabase Chart while One Man Army hit #77 on the Trax Report, further showcasing his growing popularity. In 2021, Cole signed with Bloc Note Music Publishing and went on to win the Best Local Band/Musician and Best Local Artist categories at the Albertan Readers Choice awards. He retained his title as Best Local Band/Musician in 2022. Cole's talent has been recognized even back in 2015 when he won the Nashville North Rising Star award, following up on his runner-up placement in 2014. He first entered the scene by winning the CKFM Rising Star award back in 2007. With all these accolades under his belt, Cole Malone is definitely a name to watch out for.
